

Volume 2 - September 2008

One Point Solution's focus is being your ONE source for IBM Software and Services. We believe in the Information on Demand message that has been a keystone of IBM for the last few years. Our intent is to use this as a vehicle of communication related to issues, events and offerings from One Point Solutions and IBM on products and services that would be of interest to our clients. We hope that you see value in the information we are consolidating and presenting to you.

IBM IDS Gold Bundle: EOL Warning

IBM IDS Gold Bundle reached End of Marketing on September 19th, 2008. End of Life for the IBM IDS 7.x and IDS Gold Bundle products is currently scheduled for September 2009. If your firm currently utilizes the IBM IDS Gold Bundle product please contact us and let us show you how to protect your investment.

New Offerings from One Point Solutions:

As One Point Solutions continues to focus our efforts on promoting the IBM products we realize that a new major implementation can have significant negative impacts on our client's IT staff. Towards that end we have compiled a list of new product offerings that bundle together all the necessary Hardware, Software and Professional Services to get your new implementation up and off the ground as quickly as possible. ROI is the name of the game and we want your team to be successful and showing a Return on Investment as quickly as possible. We believe these bundles hit the target OnPoint.
